CONSTIPATION AND APPENDICITIS

The Latter Usually Caused By The Former, which, In Turn, Has Its Origin In Intestinal Indigestion.

Chronic constipation is a disease which is about as prevalent as dyspepsia and indigestion. Nearly every one suffers from it occasionally, but there are millions of people who endure it habitually, and who are recovered to the Grand Banks. habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and ca-habitually, and who are accustomed to resort to the use of laxatives and cathartics daily.

Many people seemed to have developed a perfect mania for taking pills, and instead of trying to ascertain the latent cause of the disease, and removing it by appropriate treatment, they are content to continue the reckless use of laxatives, aperients, drastic cathartics and violent purgatives, until finally inflammation of the boweis occurs, which reaches the appendix, and the reh reaches the appendix, and the re-

In investigating and tracing the causative factors of constipation and its frequent sequel, appendicitis, it has been noted by physicians that the majority of cases were preceded and accompanied by a long-standing gastro-intestinal indigestion.

Intestinal Indigestion.

The idea that appendicitis is brought on by foreign bodies, such as seeds, &c., becoming lodged in the appendix, is an exploded theory. It is now definitely known that constipation is the most prolific cause of this dread disease, while the constipation itself is previously induced by intestinal indigestion, or amylaceous dyspepsia,—the inability to digest starches—so the relation between cause and effect is readily lation between cause and effect is readily lation between cause and effect is readily seen and appreciated.

The absurdity of attempting to cure constipation by the use of physic should be apparent to every one. Laxatve drugs and powerful purgatives will never cure a disease of this sort, and those who make frequent or regular use of them will, sooner or later, set up an inflammatory condition of the intestinal system.

A person with first-class digestion will never be annoyed with chronic constipation, and when this trouble does exist, instead of slugging the system with pills, liquid laxatives, candy cathartics, &c., use a remedy which will cure the gastro-intestinal indigestion, and you will find that the constipation no longer bothers you, and with its removal, the risk springfield. Ill. of developing appendicitis will be reduced to the minimum. of developing appendicitis will be reduced to the minimum.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS have been the means of curing numerous cases of constipation, by first curing the intestinal indigestion. They diverse every kind of food, a single grain of alimentum, and in addition to pepsin and other powerful digestives, they also contain diastase, which converts starch into sugar, and readily cures amylaceous dyspepsia and intestinal indigestion.

If you are suffering from dyspepsia, constipation, and, in fact, indigestion of any kind, don't run the risk of getting appendicitis, but strike at the root of the trouble—the original cause—by using stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which will quickly rid you of all functional disorders of the alimentary tract.

Taking piano lessons is a good way-but how about children who are born without talent and have to be driven to their practice?

Suppose your child is taking piano lessons from a competent teacher. The Pianola Piano gives exactly the same opportunities for practice as any first-class piano.

But while the fingers are being trained, the ear can be educated too. Hearing the masterpieces of great composers stimulates a love for music and acts as an incentive to music study.

The great teachers of music like Prof. Leschetizky of Berlin, Prof. Spalding of Harvard, and Prof. Gow of Vassar, endorse the Pianola in the strongest terms.
